New executive for Scenic 35

The Scenic Highway 35 Association has elected a new executive for the coming year. The selection took place February 18 at the group's annual meeting held in the Stanhope Fire Fighter's Hall.

Heading the group for the coming year will be Paul Harrison. Others on the executive include vice president Eleanor Patton, secretary Marg Harrison and treasurer Bob White. All offices were filled by acclamation.

Outgoing president Fred Chapple described the past year as a successful one for the organization. He noted that success for the group can not be measured in financial terms but rather in the number of individuals attracted to the Highway 35 corridor by the group's various activities.

He expressed his appreciation to the individuals who assisted him by working on various committees. He noted that the Association appears to have, ... created an increased closeness along Highway 35 among the business community. It has been an honour to serve as your president."

During the meeting, the members discussed the various activities of the past year and for the coming year. The most immediate promotion is a repeat of last year's Balloon Run. Forty-four businesses along the Highway 35 corridor will be taking part in this event. Snowmobile riders will travel from business to business collecting a helium filled balloon at each location. Inside each balloon will be slips of paper bearing a notation for prizes or special offers.

At the end of the ride, in the presence of a participating merchant, the rider will break the balloons to discover what he has won. Balloons broken while going from one business to the next will not be eligible for a prize. The Balloon Run is scheduled for March 7.

The group also discussed the possibility of holding a Highland's Games in the county. It was decided to explore the details of such an undertaking with the Chamber of Commerce.

After endorsing a number of amendments to the group's constitution, the meeting adjourned with a social hour following.

Residents rally in support of administrator

In an unprecedented groundswell of support, residents of Minden and area are rallying to the defence of Hyland Crest Administrator Karl Samuelson. According to various sources, the administrator of the county-operated senior citizens' home, received notice of his dismissal following an in-camera meeting of Haliburton County Council last Wednesday afternoon.

Neither County Warden, Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey nor the home administrator, Karl Samuelson, would comment on the reports that the man had been dismissed. Both parties appeared to be trying not to prejudice a meeting scheduled for today, when it is understood that both sides will attempt to iron out the differences between them.

In the meantime, support for the administrator has grown both inside and outside the home. The Times has received a number of letters praising Samuelson's work at Hyland Crest and protesting the firing. At least two petitions are circulating the community adding to the protest.

According to Muriel Riemer, the vice president of the Hyland Crest Auxiliary, it is believed Samuelson is being let go by the county because it was discovered that he was looking for another job.

However, Riemer indicated her committee was informed that by the time he received his notice, Samuelson had stopped looking for other employment and had decided to stay.

According to Riemer and a number of Hyland Crest staff members, Samuelson has an excellent record at the home even though he's only been there for six months.

Many of the residents are also disturbed about the dismissal.

Edna Cowan, one of the residents, gathered names of other residents and staff members who are against the dismissal.

"You can't get a better man than Samuelson," Cowan said in an interview. "Everyone's badly upset about the matter and it'll get worse if he's let go."

She added that if, in fact, the administrator is being let go because he was looking for another job, that still is unfair. "Since when is it grounds to fire a person because he's trying to better himself," she said.

Cowan also said that residents are upset because they feel helpless to stop the dismissal of Samuelson. "I don't know why county council is being so secretive—we get a different story from everyone. I'd like to know where they think they'll get someone who'll be as well liked and qualified for the position as Samuelson."

She said that everyone approached had signed the petition. "Of course, there's some here who aren't in control of their minds. But those of us who are and can speak out are doing what we can."

So far, Cowan has complained about the matter to Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins and the Ministry of Community and Social Services.

dealing with Queen's Park and his general knowledge of the riding would stand him in good stead if elected.

Ward said he was also interested in ensuring the selection of a local PC candidate was a lively contest. "I believe it is a healthy undertaking when candidates debate the issues," he said.

The PC hopeful said he was not impressed with the actions of the Liberal government under Premier David Peterson. "There is a log-jam of decision, particularly on the environment, pollution, and post second-

Family violence counselors find they're busy

Unfortunately the Family Violence Safety Network is finding itself with lots to do these days. That is according to a report to members of the Haliburton County Council offered by Peterborough YWCA representative Laura Visor at the February 18 meeting.

Visor told the councillors that during the past six months the Crossroads safe-house in Peterborough had met the needs of 22 individuals. A safe-house is a location where a woman and her children can go to get away from a battering husband. The facility provides basic care for the dislocated families and counselling service for the women.

She told the meeting that the county of Peterborough had been paying a stipend to cover the cost of the individuals who used the facility. However she suggested the communities or counties where these families come from should be carrying part of the costs. She said Victoria County has agreed to meet its share of the obligation.

Visor came armed with figures. She said that services at the Crossroads shelter had been made available to Haliburton County residents. She said, under the current per diem assessment, the following Highlands municipalities would be responsible for these costs incurred recently: Dysart et al $180.80; Glamorgan $406.80; Monmouth $67.80.

Visor said that ultimately the service would like to have a safe home established locally to meet the needs of the community and to provide an alternative for Peterborough area women who may feel safer outside of their own community.

Dysart Deputy Reeve Bill Davis asked the YWCA spokesman about those individuals who leave a battering situation for several weeks only to return to the same environment a short time later. He suggested this could lead to a "never ending cycle."

Visor responded by noting that battered wives must deal with many pressures, including those from family, friends, husband and relatives to return to the "normal" existence. She said in some cases the woman has to leave home a number of times before she finally breaks away from the environment.

Warden Murray Fearrey suggested that publication of the name of individuals who are found guilty of the assault would be one way to bring societal pressure to bear on the individuals.

Committee will study possibility of SSFC campus

A committee has been established to study the potential for creating a year-round campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College in Haliburton County. A resolution establishing the committee was endorsed at the February 18 meeting of the council.

Lutterworth Deputy Reeve Carol Puffer, who chairs the county's education committee, noted the important role education has played in enhancing the area's attractiveness for tourism. She was referring to the Haliburton Highlands School of Fine Arts which operates out of Haliburton during the summer months.

The council agreed with the proposal in principle, "...to proceed with a full integrated, year round, County of Haliburton campus." The motion suggested the campus would be designed to specifically meet the educational, social and economic needs of the people of the county, with particular reference to local culture, recreation and employment.

The motion also called for special emphasis to be given to the natural resources base, including lands, forests and ground water.

The council gave the motion their endorsement. Puffer is expected to meet with college officials in the near future in an effort to lay the groundwork necessary for the implementation of the proposal.

Boost for Haliburton Hospital

The Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund received a major boost earlier this month when the Sisters of St. Joseph in Peterborough contributed $10,000 to the effort.

In the letter accompanying the donation, the order's general treasurer Sister Stephanie noted that the donation was being made "In recognition of the wonderful spirit and work being done in the Haliburton area...Our best wishes for success in your campaign and the expansion at the hospital to help people of your area."

Chairman of the fund, Barb Dawson, commented on her surprise and pleasure at receiving the donation. The cheque was presented at the fund raising information meeting held in Wilberforce, February 10. She added, "...the change in ownership from the Red Cross to the Sisters of St. Joseph in 1984 has been of great benefit to both the Haliburton and Minden hospitals.

At the moment, the public subscription portion of the fund raising stands at $36,500 plus a commitment of $25,000 from the Rotary Club of Haliburton. The target is $240,000.

Dorset acid rain report

Due to a computer malfunction, the acid rain report from the Ministry of Environment testing station in Dorset was not available last week. This week's precipitation report covers the past 14 days, although there was no precipitation reported during the last week. The figures are compiled by Environment Canada.

- February 8, 19 cm of snow, pH 4.4, from Ohio, New York and southern Ontario and northwestern Quebec and central Ontario.

- February 12, 2 cm of snow, pH 4.1, from northern Ontario and central Ontario.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

ary education," he said. Ward also said he felt northern issues were not being dealt with properly by the Liberal government and that regional disparity continues to be a problem in the province.

Ward said frustration was being felt throughout the tourism industry as a result of a lack of decision from the provincial Ministry. The current representative for Victoria - Haliburton, John Eakins, heads that ministry.

Asked if he felt he could defeat Eakins in the next election, if he was chosen to represent the Conservatives, Ward admitted it would be a challenge. "I'm not phased with being the underdog," he commented, "things can happen pretty quickly in politics."

Ward has served as president of numerous local organizations including the Lake Kashagawigamog Tourist Association, the Chamber of Commerce, Haliburton Rotary Club and director of the Victoria-Haliburton Progressive Conservative Association. He has also served as president of Resorts Ontario, chairman of Tourism Ontario and a director of Tourism Industry Association of Canada. In 1980 he was chosen Highlander of the Year by the local Chamber of Commerce.

Each of the 135 polls throughout the riding will be entitled to send up to ten delegates, plus two youth delegates to the nominating convention set for the first Saturday in March in Lindsay.

In an announcement to the press this weekend, Oakwood area resident, Valmay Barkey announced her indication to seek the nomination for the Provincial Progressive Conservative Party at the forthcoming Nomination Convention on March 7.

"While I had initially declined the invitation of the Search Committee to seek the nomination, strong encouragement from supporters seeking representation from a local community resident prompted serious reconsideration. With the support of my family and endorsement from members of the Victoria County Community Care Executive, I made a commitment to run on Friday night and filed my intention to run with the party secretary."

"Facing challenges with hard work and determination has been a characteristic of my life. This will be no exception, and I am privileged to have the same kind of hard workers who will be helping behind the scenes phoning potential delegates who have not signed up yet and encouraging them to sign up by Wednesday in support of my candidacy."

Val Barkey brings a comprehensive community background to her candidacy. Having lived in Lindsay and Oakwood for most of her life, she has been involved in a wide variety of activities as well as being the mother of four children.

Valmay is current Chairman of the Ross Memorial Board of Governors and was appointed by the Provincial government to the District Health Council two years ago. As Executive Director for Victoria County Community Care, an agency which she helped to establish, she has gained a broad understanding of the issues and needs facing seniors.

Valmay has gained an awareness, too, of the needs of the farming community through her involvement with her husband in their grain and feed business.

"The strengthening of our small business - whether it be farming, tourism, manufacturing, or commerce is a major economic issue facing us in Victoria and Haliburton," comments Mrs. Barkey.

Valmay has had additional involvements including senior housing, education, annually producing musicals at the Academy Theatre, and church work.

Room to grow

It is time for members of Haliburton County Council to give serious consideration to a major renovation and addition to the County offices. The facility has long passed the point of minor discomfiture and now could affect the efficiency of county employees to carry out their responsibilities.

The engineering/roads department officials now find themselves in three separate locations, one on the second level of the main building, another in the basement and another in the registry office across Newcastle Street. The various offices may be close at hand, but we hardly think this scattered layout can be conducive to efficient operation and careful co-ordination.

The pressure on available space is increasing as a new department of the county established itself in the already crowded registry building. As of the first of April the county's social services department starts serving the county. Offices are already in place for the four member department, and while the facilities may be adequate for now, the responsibilities of the department are sure to grow and will require additional space.

The present council chamber is adequate, now that the size of county council has been reduced. The meetings rarely attract audiences, but if a large number of individuals attended a meeting, the council would be hard pressed to accommodate them adequately.

The province appears to want to shift more authority to the senior municipal levels of government. It is already happening, with the centralization of the welfare system in this county. The councillors might even consider incorporating the requirements of a county court facility into any expansion plan, drawing in additional funds from other provincial departments to assist with the costs.

With proper planning, the council could also provide much needed space for other county organizations and agencies.

To ignore the present situation can only lead to greater inefficiency and dislocation of county services.

Spring skiing.

Quote.....unquote

- by Arthur Black -

I wonder why we humans have a penchant for misquoting ourselves? Some great thinker chews on his beard for a decade or two, comes up with a profound jewel of insight worthy of living one's life by ... but instead of embracing the entire stone we just break off a carat or two and try to live by that instead. Example: An American politician on The Journal a few nights back declared "Our Constitution guarantees every citizen the rights of life, liberty and happiness..."

Sorry, senator, that's not how it reads. It says "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness". There's a big difference between being happy and chasing it.

Example two: a blow-dried, polyester bedraped TVangelist on my boob tube last Sunday intoning, "Annnnnnd as it says here in the Good Book, muh frayunds ... money is the root of all evil."

Nope, it doesn't. In 1 Timothy 6:10 it says the love of money is the root of all evil. Big difference there, too.

I have a third example of popular misconception sitting on my desk right now. It's a Toronto newspaper with a big black headline that reads: AIDS EPIDEMIC IS HERE.

That's not true either. We don't have an AIDS epidemic. Nothing like it. Four hundred and thirty-five Canadians died of AIDS in the past five years. Eleven thousand 442 Canadians died of lung cancer in the last year alone. We might be able to talk about a lung cancer epidemic, but not an AIDS epidemic.

Nevertheless there is something very like an epidemic brewing out there -- and it is related to AIDS. It's not the disease itself however. It's the fear of it.

We are about to see the blooming of a full-scale, coast-to-coast outbreak of AIDS paranoia.

As a matter of fact it's already here. The same newspaper with the above-mentioned headline carried a small story that told of a dilemma faced by Toronto police. They don't know what to do with a pair of blood-spattered handcuffs.

Doesn't seem like a big problem -- just wash 'em off and stick 'em back in your belt, right? Not with these handcuffs. They'd been worn by a drug addict who went ape and had to be subdued by the police. Problem is, the suspect was subsequently tested for AIDS and came out positive.

So now there's a pair of handcuffs that were around the man's wrists and no one knows what to do with them.

It's not the first piece of police paranoia concerning AIDS. Remember that ridiculous media circus that ensued when a Toronto prostitute and suspected AIDS carrier was arrested a few weeks back? Ever wonder how that little carnival got started? It was because a radio news reporter was monitoring the Police Band one night and heard an all-points bulletin warning all Metro Toronto units not to go near a certain police station because "an AIDS carrier" was being brought in. That turned what should have been a routine bust into a media Mardi Gras.

Easy for a newspaper columnist to sit back and snicker at police overreaction of course, but I'm not laughing at the police. I don't know any more about this creepy disease than they do.

And scare headlines don't make either of us any smarter.

Not that AIDS paranoia is an affliction reserved for Canadian policemen. The 3,000 soccer clubs in Britain have all been told to give up drinking from communal victory champagne bottles .. and to refrain from hugging and kissing each other when they score goals. The reason? Fear of AIDS.

Americans are, if anything, even more spooked by the disease. A recent newspaper poll shows that ten percent of Americans believe AIDS can be contracted from handling money.

When Halley's Comet appeared in 1910, many people thought it was the end of the world. A 1938 radio broadcast about a supposed Martian invasion caused the same hysteria. Both reactions seem quaintly hilarious now.

Maybe in a few years we'll be able to look back and laugh about The Great AIDS Panic of the 80's.

I sure hope so.

Editor:

We the undersigned form the Residents' Council of Hyland Crest. We are opposing the dismissal of our Administrator, Mr. Karl Samuelson.

Mr. Samuelson came to us on September 2 on a 6 month probation which ends on March 2. He has suddenly been dismissed, much to our surprise.

We have been most happy with the position of our Administrator.

He has been most kind, understanding and thoughtful, but stern. We have been really satisfied with him as our Guide and Leader. He has adapted himself for anything that improves or helps the residents of Hyland Crest. He believes they should always come first. We have tried in different ways to show how we feel about this affair but were told we couldn't do anything constructive.

The Executive of Residents' Council,
Pearl R. Lyle, Secretary.

Editor:

Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home is an excellent home for many of our citizens, who, for one reason or another, are incapable of caring for themselves.

As a concerned senior, a member of the auxiliary and indeed, one who may call Hyland Crest my home in future years, I would like to know I would be in capable and qualified hands.

Mr. Samuelson came to this establishment with excellent qualifications and from all reports, seems to administer to the patients' needs above and beyond the call of duty.

His dismissal, I feel, was unfair and unjust and trust those responsible will have second thoughts and reinstate Mr. Samuelson to the position for which he was hired.

Lorraine A. King,
Minden.

Editor:

As I have just returned from a meeting of the Auxiliary of Hyland Crest Seniors' Home, and, as President, I must put my thoughts on paper, for all citizens of this county to read.

Mr. Karl Samuelson, present administrator, was asked to address our meeting by me, and tell us, and also to dispel some of the rumours we have heard as to "why" he was fired last Wednesday, February 18, by two members of Hyland Crest Home Board, not in person, I might add, but via the receptionist at the Home! Does this convey to you as taxpayers of this county and as some I might add, possibly myself, could well be residents of Hyland Crest Home in the future, would you feel you are going to be well and fairly looked after by such members?

I and the members of our Auxiliary would welcome a reply from the Board as to their reasons for this firing now that we know Mr. Samuelson's side of the story.

Pearl G. Durant,
President of Hyland Crest Auxiliary.

Editor:

Justice!

I feel helpless to fight a "political" issue when the issue should be the happiness and welfare of our Senior Citizens.

Karl Samuelson has been, in my eyes, given an unjust dismissal as Administrator of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home. He is highly respected and loved by the people in the Home.

Having worked closely with Karl through the Tuck Shop at the Home, it has become apparent to me that Karl's first and only concern is the welfare and happiness of the people in the Home. His qualifications are many and his record is impeccable. The concern and devotion he gives to the citizens of Hyland Crest is above and beyond the responsibilities of his job.

Yet we, as taxpayers and voters, must stand by helplessly and see "our" Home lose a very "special" man. We cannot even attend a meeting on Thursday evening at the Home to express our views and concerns because, we are informed, it is a "private" meeting between Karl and the Board.

If Karl is not reinstated to his position, I shall be ashamed to say that "Justice" is carried on in this area.

Muriel Riemer,
Minden.

Editor:

As a concerned citizen of Haliburton County, without an axe to grind - I'm not in politics - I don't work - and I owe no one - I wish to state that I abhor the firing of Mr. Karl Samuelson as administrator of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home.

I am a member and past president of Hyland Crest auxiliary and, at no time, in my opinion, has the Home been under better supervision.

Mr. Samuelson is a caring, qualified administrator and certainly does not deserve the shameful way in which he was dismissed.

The members of the board who have been delegated by the people of Haliburton County to oversee the affairs of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home should certainly "take another look" and, hopefully, this time, come up with a sane reappraisal of their decision.

Aileen Blears,
Minden.

Editor:

We, along with many others, are concerned over what seems to be the sudden dismissal of Karl Samuelson Administrator of Hyland Crest Home for our seniors. It would appear that the Board of Directors, the majority of residents and staff of Hyland Crest are happy and satisfied with Mr. Samuelson's administration and really, who are in a better position to judge than they?

From time to time we are all called upon to make snap decisions based on our understanding of information available to us at the time. Sometimes our mood, or the manner in which the information was presented, or even the lateness of the hour will tend to influence our thinking. We realize that if our County Council is going to get things done, because they are human, like the rest of us, they run the risk of making mistakes, and we accept the present situation in that light.

Regardless of the considerations that led to Council's apparent decision to dismiss this man, this is Canada; he has a right to a fair hearing and an opportunity to defend himself.

On occasion it is necessary to reconsider evidence from other angles and maybe even reverse a stand. Often the mark of greatness is the ability to say "Sorry, we goofed - let's start back at the beginning and correct what was probably nothing more than an error in judgement."

What an excellent time this is to prove to all that council's primary concern in this matter is the same as Karl Samuelson's - the welfare of the residents of Hyland Crest.

Keith Hill,
Minden.

What do you think about

Political corruption

For a number of months, corruption in politics has made headline news. When will it cease?

To many Canadians, words such as sincerity, trust and integrity have fallen by the wayside. Instead, scandal, graft and patronage appointments has taken their place in politics. Over two months ago, a Globe and Mail survey found that over 65% of Canadians distrust politicians. Alarming fact isn't it? Politicians, especially those elected as M.P.'s or M.P.P.'s are well looked after. They get a decent salary, an expense account and excellent pensions should they be fortunate enough to stay elected long enough.

Why then has greed, as so often been the case, tempted politicians into looking after themselves and their closest friends? Sure it's been going on for a long time and all parties ... Conservatives, Liberals and New Democrats, have been at fault.

Look at poor old Mulroney. He surrounded himself with a number of incompetent people who brought scandal to themselves, their constituents, and their party. Already, seven cabinet ministers have had to resign. Three R.C.M.P. investigations involving scandal are presently under way. An inquiry which will cost us, as taxpayers, some 3 million dollars, involving Sinclair Stevens is still going on. It is alleged that a 2.6 million dollar loan negotiated by Stevens' wife, Noreen Stevens, put him in a conflict of interest, because the lender was a man associated with a firm that received millions of dollars in assistance from Stevens' department. Stevens contends that he never discussed the loan at any time with his wife at home. What do you think?

Rather than spend a great deal of money and time on a needless inquiry, why not allow his own constituents in the next election prove him guilty or innocent? Even David Peterson got a few lumps from a scandalous issue that was raised on the last day of the sitting of the legislature at Queen's Park. No doubt the Provincial Liberals will have their hands full when the legislature reconvenes.

Certainly those in power are getting the message loud and clear. The Canadian public is fed up with political corruption. Those who hold public office and those who wish to do so will have to do away with feelings of being compelled to look after friends through pay-offs of one sort or other, if they wish to succeed!

Hef-berg and Bird-face at HHSS

A busy session ends

- by John Eakins, MPP -

One of the busiest sessions in recent memory concluded this month, but much legislature work will continue during the next few weeks at the committee level.

My schedule certainly remains full as cabinet, and cabinet committees continue to work.

During the 33rd session, 112 bills were dealt with, of which 61 led to Royal Assent. In addition, many new programs were introduced. For example, Treasurer Robert Nixon announced a temporary two-year tax reduction for farm equipment dealers.

The farm equipment industry has generally not participated in the economic upturn being experienced by most sectors of the Ontario economy.

"While I don't believe the problem is a long-term one, the hardship these dealers are experiencing is nonetheless very real," Mr. Nixon said in the House.

The proposal will reduce to a maximum $200 the capital tax otherwise payable by farm implement dealers on their first $3 million in taxable capital. The legislation to implement this measure will be introduced following the 1987

Spring Budget. The change will be effective for taxation years beginning after December 31, 1986.

This is an important change, and I was pleased to have raised the concerns of equipment dealers in the riding with both the Treasurer and the Minister of Agriculture and Food.

During the last week of the session, I also had the pleasure of introducing Ontario's Athletes of the Year.

Ben Johnson, of Scarborough, is well known as the number one 100-metre sprinter in the world. Ontario is extremely proud of him. I was delighted to present him with the award, for the second year in a row.

Joanne Bouw is a champion in shotput, discus and javelin and is the first-ever winner of the Ontario Disabled Athlete of the Year Award. Born with cerebral palsy hemiplegia, affecting her right side, Joanne holds world records in her sports.

This young woman has accomplished amazing feats in the increasingly tough and important field of disabled amateur sports. There is no one more deserving of Ontario's first Disabled Athlete of the Year Award.

The St. Catharines team of Marilyn Darte (skip), Kathy McEdwards (vice-skip), Christine Jurgenson (second), Jan Augustyn (lead), and Lynn Reynolds (coach) swept the 1986 Canadian Ladies Curling Championship. The team then went on to capture the World Championship in Kelowna, B.C.

People across Ontario were behind Marilyn Darte and her team 100 per cent as they competed for the world title. It was a splendid effort in a year of incredible achievement.

The Ontario Sports Award is a program of the Office of the Premier of Ontario, administered by the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation, Sports and Fitness.

from the chamber

by Shawn Hagerman

Now is the time for interested Chamber members to come to the Sportsmen's Show and participate at our booth. This is the 40th annual Toronto Sportsmen's Show. It begins March 13 and runs until the 22nd.

All members that are interested, please call the chamber office at 286-1760 to confirm your participation and return the promotional material sent out by the chamber along with your deposit.

This exhibition is billed as one of the largest of its kind in North America. This year's show will focus on the entire recreational market including travel, resort, camping, boating, trailering fishing and related outdoor activities. The attendance at the show has proved to be helpful, not only for the benefit of the entire county, but for those businesses that participate.

Cook book

Our cook book has also enjoyed a tremendous response. It should be going to print shortly in the next few weeks, with the books being available later in the spring. It is necessary that if your business or lodge has a favourite recipe, it should be in by February 27. Your recipe and your name would then be able to be printed in the book for its distribution.

Services

I hope over the next few columns to outline all the various services that are available to chamber members. I had a conversation with a member recently, who didn't realize the new photo copying machine we had available at our office. It can do colour, enlarge or reduce your copies. The prices are 30 cents for a non member and 25 cents for a member, with volume discounts of up to 50%.

The next few weeks will be a very busy time for our chamber. The Sportsmen's Show, Cullen Barns Show, Travel and Leisure Show and the Eaton Centre Show will all be occurring within the next seven weeks.

How Fortunate We Are!

It is unfortunate that I had to learn this lesson the hard way; but since I personally experienced what transpired in Minden and in the Minden Hospital during my husband's recent fatal illness, I feel obligated to share this personal enlightenment with those who will take a few moments to read on.

I want to refer to human beings who do such a fantastic job that most of us just take their tasks for granted.

The people who work at the Minden Hospital are so considerate, so thoughtful. The nurses, the housekeeping staff, the kitchen staff, and those operating the ambulances are all so dedicated. We are indeed blessed to have such people near at hand when they are required.

How fortunate we are to be favoured, right here in Minden, with a gentleman like Dr. Steve Dawson; his thoughtfulness and his personal consideration have to be recognized. When you add to those blessings, the Home Care and the work carried on by The Red Cross Home Makers, and the V.O.N. Nurses and all the unaccountable acts performed by your neighbours and friends, you realize just how lucky we are to live in Minden!

Let's count our blessings and give praise to those who really merit our thanks.

Re: premeditated murder. Without coming to terms with the moral issues involved; I think that society would feel more comfortable, at the present time, if the death penalty were reimposed.

Heavier penalties for those who infringe on other areas of the law could be considered, as well.

In fact, those who hold the gavels of justice in the land appear to be doing just this.

K. Mitchell,

Editor:

Mr. Kulas' question "Are you in favour or opposed to capital punishment?", being a life-death issue requires a little more courage to tackle than most of his articles, but it is one with which each of us must come to grips.

Capital punishment was abolished in Canada in 1976 with sixteen on death row convicted in our courts of first degree murder. These criminals are eligible now for consideration for parole which will result in the possibility of their being put back on our streets. As it is now, the public is victimized at least twice by the murderer - first, by the offence that he has killed an innocent human being, and secondly we must bear the ever-increasing cost of keeping him in maximum security until parole to the streets, and then to which so often happens, another crime.

Although we strive toward a state where there is no murder and no need for capital punishment, the fact remains that our society has not reached this state of Utopia, and I believe that justice dictates that a person convicted of first-degree murder should be prepared to lose his own life. This is not an act of revenge, but rather an act to serve justice.

Abolitionists argue that capital punishment is not a deterrent to murder. But latest figures from Statistics Canada show otherwise. In a recent five-year period, where the death penalty has been reinstated for first degree murder in the U.S.A., the homicide rates have decreased. For example, Florida has a homicide decline of 23 per cent while Canada's homicide rate is steadily increasing since abolition. For instance, a robber will murder a witness because the present penalty for murder is not a deterrent, and the general public is expressing a high degree of abhorrence for a law which coddles the murderer and is designed to protect the criminal more than the victim.

In addition, the increasing homicide rate coupled with the increasing cost of maximum security which now costs $49,560 per year to keep a male and $56,000 to keep a female will soon become a financial burden which society cannot continue to bear. Efforts to rehabilitate and parole have completely failed. A study of penitentiary paroles by the Solicitor-General's office shows that 53.7 per cent of individuals released on parole were back in prison within five years of their release.

The most valid argument offered by the opposition is the possibility that an innocent person may be convicted and executed. I would argue that if the death penalty is not reinstated, evidence shows that murders will be paroled and innocent lives will certainly be lost. A fair and just legal system will ensure that this does not happen in either case.

Opponents of the death penalty often use the unfair argument that it is the poor and the minority groups who are tried and executed. Well, just as often, the victims are the poor and from the minority groups. So the abolitionist is implying that the victim's life is of lesser value than the murderer's life. And for the chief argument against the death penalty, that it is an affront to human dignity, let us not overlook the fact that the murderer first degraded himself by his invasion of the life, rights and privacy of others.

Some oppose the death penalty on the grounds of Jesus' ethic of non violence. While on the Cross, He pardoned the thieves for their sins, but I find no record that He condemned capital punishment. For those who oppose capital punishment based on the Bible commandments, I can find other justification from "an eye for an eye", to Romans 13:4 "the state does not bear the sword in vain". These are the people who call for mercy for the Clifford Olsons and show more compassion for such murderers than for their victims. Let us remember this key difference: The people whom Olson executed were innocent; Olson is not.

Our present penal system is out of control, and it encourages recidivists to steal a little more to pay a larger fine while our legal system lobbies to find ways to lighten sentences for those imprisoned for violent crimes. No wonder that Canadians who are demanding the return of capital punishment believe that the length of incarceration is grotesquely out of proportion to the havoc and pain created by the criminal, and I for one, am tired of my tax dollars going toward keeping criminals in prisons which have been turned into first-class hotels.

If our legal system continues to deny both justice and the concept of individual responsibility, we will surely either perish in a chaos of criminal and vigilante lawlessness, or we will end up governed by a totalitarian state which denies all of its citizens any individual freedom.

As soon as the cold weather arrives, cats become more susceptible to a painful death or injury; being literally "ripped to shreds" in the fan or fanbelt of a vehicle. During cold weather, cats tend to huddle around the engines of vehicles in a desperate attempt to keep warm. This unfortunate, albeit understandable, habit leads to the deaths or injuries for numerous cats annually in Ontario.

Cats tend to crawl up under the hood of parked vehicles. Once the owner returns to the vehicle and starts the engine, the cat is unaware of the imminent danger until it is too late. These unfortunate accidents could be eliminated, or drastically reduced, if the person driving the vehicle banged on the hood of the vehicle or honked the horn prior to starting the engine. If the horn is used to scare the cat, ensure that enough time is given to allow a cat to escape before turning on the engine. Do not make the mistake of beeping the horn and then immediately turning on the engine. Vehicles equipped with space heaters are more likely to attract cats seeking warmth.

Alerting any cats lurking under the hood of your vehicle should be done each time you start the engine. This way you will develop a habit of alerting cats and will be less likely to forget. While cats are less likely to crawl up under the hood of a vehicle in the warmer weather, being curious creatures they have been known to do so. So, before starting your vehicle's engine, alert those felines which might be seeking shelter under the hood of your vehicle.

Camp Kitchikewana has been in operation on the shores of Ontario's Georgian Bay since 1919. Since that time, there have been thousands of young men and women who have attended "Kitchi" as campers, counsellors, or staff people, and who are now successful adults located in every corner of this vast country.

The camp is now on a much-needed redevelopment program to upgrade the facilities and equipment in order to enhance the camping experience for young people of the next generation.

Through the kind co-operation of your newspaper, we hope to expand our alumni mailing list by reaching Camp Kitchikewana graduates in your readership area. We are convinced that the "spirit of Kitchikewana", imbued through camp values and friendships, will now be returned to us in our time of need.

Staanworth residents Vera and Henry Howe celebrated their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary February 18 at a party thrown by fellow residents in their honour. The Howes received letters of congratulations from H.M. The Queen, Prime Minister Brian Mulroney, Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins, Victoria-Haliburton M.P. Bill Scott and Ontario Premier David Peterson.

Info centre seeks county support

The Haliburton County Information Centre is seeking financial assistance from the county for its continued operation. A spokesman for the organization, Dorothy Baker, spoke to members of the county at the February 18 meeting.

Baker described the service as one that is badly needed in the community. She said the personnel provide information on a wide range of topics, most having to do with government and access to government information.

At the moment, the Information Centre is organizing a series of tax clinics across the county to assist individuals in preparing their federal income tax returns. She told the councillors that over one hundred individuals took advantage of the clinics last year and more are expected this spring.

Baker also told the councillors that the service is expanding, by opening an office, next Tuesday, in Minden. The office, which will be located in the basement of the municipal building, will be open one day a week at the start. She indicated that if there was enough interest that schedule would be increased. Success in the Minden extension could also lead to another office opening in the Wilberforce area.

"Face to face communications is still the best," Mrs. Baker told the councillors. She said that while it is possible to respond to some inquiries over the phone, complicated government forms often require personal contact.

Emphasizing the need for the service across the county, Mrs. Baker told the council, "We are looking for any financial assistance you can provide."

Centre plans opening in new location

The Hospitality Training Centre is growing.

At the beginning of February the hotel and restaurant staff training school moved from its old location across from C.H.A.C.E. Place in the Village of Haliburton to the former Dell Haven Inn building about six kilometres outside Haliburton on Highway 121.

Part of the reason for the move, says training centre director Daun Windover, is to accommodate a larger student body.

From 1983, when the centre first opened, until December, 1986, an average of about 20 students received diplomas every year. But this year the federal Government increased the Centre's budget by 21%, allowing Windover to take on more students and add more time to the courses. About 33 students will graduate this year.

The other reason for the move to the new building, says Windover, is to permit the centre to run a small bed and breakfast business.

"Now we can give the students on-the-job training," she explains. "By serving real guests every day they see first hand what will be expected of them in the Hospitality business - the long hours and some of the satisfactions."

Though the centre has already begun taking some guests the official opening isn't until March 3.

In past years, the courses - two per year - were 18 weeks long and involved mostly classroom work. This year the regular course has been extended to 22 weeks and includes a co-op program whereby students are assigned jobs at local resorts and inns. They put in regular hours at their job placements, and often, says Windover, that's where they find employment after graduation.

The centre trains students (they range in age from 16 to 56) as waiters, cook's assistants, and bar tenders. And this year for the first time there's a front desk course. Longer and a little more demanding than the other courses, it requires students to learn something of all the other jobs as well as book-keeping and a little about computers. Six students are now enrolled in the course.

One of the biggest changes in the centre however was made last year when the federal Government required the centre to take on only what it called "employment disadvantaged" students as a condition of its annual grant.

An employment disadvantaged person is someone who has difficulty finding work; such as a mother who has been out of the workforce for some years, someone with a lack of education, or a person with no marketable skills.

The training centre does regular checks on its past graduates to see who's working and where. The first students who passed through the centre's doors were very successful. As many as 85 per cent were found to have jobs six months after they graduated. But the centre found that success rate among the employment disadvantaged students wasn't nearly so high: it dropped to about 72 per cent.

So Windover decided that what they needed was more training and real work experience. Hence this year's lengthening of the courses. She's confident now that her students' success rate will rise back up to where it should be.

Perhaps the greatest barrier the employment disadvantaged students face is lack of self-confidence, something it's difficult to teach a person. But they can be taught to understand themselves better, which is the first step toward better self-esteem.

The new lifeskills instructor, Paul Magowan, has designed his course to fit the needs of the students.

"First off," Magowan explains, "we get the people (many of the students are well into their 30's so he's careful not to call them kids) to take a good look at themselves, to recognise their weaknesses and also their strengths."

"And that's important because so often they're made to concentrate on their failings and not on the other side. A lot of these people haven't experienced many successes in their lives, particularly with the education system the way it is and the fact that many of them have been unemployed for a long time."

So Magowan and Windover concentrate on positive reinforcement. When a student performs well they praise that person. Leadership skills are developed by requiring students just finishing to teach some of the new students.

"The changes are amazing," says Windover. "Within a matter of days you suddenly start to see people brightening up and taking pride in themselves. As soon as they learn how to do something well their self-confidence starts to grow and it just keeps on growing."

At the end of the 22 week course nearly everyone finds a job. And that's pretty good for people who were once slotted as employment disadvantaged.

Windover has plans for the new training centre building - the changes evidently aren't going to end here. Though light and airy, the Dell Haven is spartan. The basement and main downstairs rooms have already undergone some renovation and the next major project, says Windover, will be the upstairs bedrooms.

The bed and breakfast business, she hopes, will attract a steady flow of mature "mid-range" guests. If it works out, the guests will get good service at a competitive rate and the students will get some solid, on-the-job training. The government will bring pressure to bear to make sure the business works. There'll be regular inspections and if ever it becomes apparent that the bed and breakfast isn't working, Windover will be told to shut it down.

But that is not likely to happen. Windover's primary concern with the business side of the training centre is the response it will get from the rest of the resort and restaurant trade. She concedes that it may be regarded as unfair competition, as a government intrusion on private enterprise.

But that's a false argument, she says. "Firstly, our clientele will not be the same

Entertaining hockey featured Monday night

Once again the Minden Men's Hockey League has given its fans some fine entertainment.

In the first of Monday night's three games, Hall's Insurance trounced Home Hardware 12-2.

Though Home came on strong in the first period, Halls met them head to head and came out on top.

Halls started off the match with a four goal run, scored by Dave Brown who got a hat trick and Bernie Upton.

Toward the end of the period, Home player Jeff Howe put in a goal for his team, which was countered by Hall's Dave Brown who raced in for his fourth point of the game.

Second period saw two more Halls goals, scored by Bernie Upton and Louie Reynolds.

In the third period, Home started off by getting their second point, scored by John McAdam. But Halls then set in to increase their already overwhelming lead. With five more goals, by Joe Mitchell, Rick Salmon, Ed Gibbons, Bernie Upton and Dave Brown. The score was 12-2 for Halls at the end of the game.

Monday night's second game saw Hartwick Construction defeat Vasey Real Estate 10-4.

Hartwick's Corey Walker started off the game with one for his team. But Hartwick came on strong with two goals by Sid MacKeigan and Gary Nelson.

Down, but not out, Vasey countered with a point by Andy Campbell, which was matched by a devastating six goal streak by Hartwick. Goal getters were Brian Shout, Corey Walker, Gary Nelson and Sid MacKeigan who got two.

Training Centre

as that of most of the resorts in Haliburton County. We're in the bed and breakfast trade and I know of only two other such businesses in the area.

"Secondly, we're training future staff for the hospitality industry. It's not like the people we train here are going to stay around. They're going to go out into the community and work for other businesses."

And that perhaps, is a good argument for the training centre itself. In Haliburton County the winter unemployment rate regularly peaks at something over 20 per cent. A rate like that creates employment disadvantaged people, and the Hospitality Training Centre is one of the few escape routes out of the welfare trap for people in an area with too few jobs.

In the third period toward the end, Vasey made a comeback with two goals scored by Tim Vezina and Barry Walker, but it was a case of too little, too late.

One more point by Hartwick's Eldon Bull sealed up the game.

In game three The Times trashed Rockcliffe 10-4.

The Times' Boomer Stamp started the game with a point for his team. Rockcliffe's Ted Vasey countered with a goal for his team, a goal that was soon matched by Ben Manuge of

The Times.

Bringing the game back to a 2-2 tie, Rockcliffe's Doug Schell knocked a second puck past The Times' goalie.

But The Times came back with points by Doug Colburn and Doug Rae. Still fighting for air, Rockcliffe knocked in another goal, this one by Dave Pettes. The Times came back with another by Stamp which was matched by a Rockcliffe goal off the stick of Ted Vasey.

But that was Rockcliffe's last gasp; they were then smothered by a five goal Times blitz. Point getters were Carl Northey, Doug Rae, Doug Colburn, Darryl Ward and Shawn Allore.

Coming up this Monday night, the playoffs continue with the final games in the five game round robin series.

Group reaches out to help wives and families

To publicise the campaign to stop violence against women, February has been declared Break the Silence Month.

On Thursday night Jude King, director of the Haliburton County Family Violence Safety Network spoke to an audience of about 20 in the Minden Community Centre and explained the problem of battered women.

A batterer, she said, is someone who kicks, punches, slaps, pushes, or pulls his mate. Sometimes, more subtly, he may attack her indirectly by tearing up her clothes or scare her by driving too quickly.

A profile of the average batterer is very much that of the average North American male, King explained. She estimates that in Haliburton County there are about 300 women being battered now, a ratio of one or two in ten.

The audience were shown a film in which a number of women who were once battered by their husbands told about the experience. One woman described being pinned on a bed by her husband while he slapped her across the head. Another talked of the reluctance of her doctor and the police to act when she tried to tell them what her husband was doing to her.

Speaking with King at the meeting was Minden O.P.P. Constable Mike Maybee. He said that in the last four years his department had noted a decrease in cases of domestic violence, especially since King opened her office in June, 1986.

He also explained that occurrence of domestic violence varies across the province. In the district in which he was last assigned, an area in Northern Ontario with a population of about 1200, there were as many cases of battered women as there are in the whole of Haliburton County.

Also at the meeting were Safety Network volunteers

Jim Moore and Glen Hamilton.

Hamilton, a Haliburton psychologist, leads a therapy group of former batterers. He described the experience of watching a batterer through the process of rehabilitation, from the point at the beginning of the sessions when many men blame their wives for the violence they've done to them, to the end when some of the men recognize their problem.

Many in the audience had questions for King and her speakers.

Jim Fast, pastor of the Minden Fellowship Baptist Church, asked what the Church could do to help stop battering. King said that when battered women asked for a minister's help, the minister would be called.

Another man asked if the Family Violence Safety Network dealt with battered children and husbands. King said that she was dealing with the problem of battering in the way that appeared best.

Novices end regular season

- Submitted -

In the last regular season game for the Monarchs' Minor Novices, Oakwood came to Minden last Thursday night only to meet with a 7-0 defeat.

Our boys played extremely well with everyone passing the puck and playing position, all of which resulted in all three periods being dominated by the Monarchs.

First period goal scored by Marty Dettman assisted by Todd Redgrave and Andrew McKelvey. Second period goals by Tome Neville, Todd Redgrave and Andrew Wilbee. Assists by Andrew McKelvey, Daniel Howell and Marty Dettman. Third period goals by Todd Redgrave, Marty Dettman and Andrew Wilbee. Assists by Jeff Wray, Todd Redgrave and Andrew McKelvey. As usual, Justin Rowden handled goaltending duties effectively.

Sunday

The Monarchs travelled to Sutton for a tournament on Sunday and came away with a decisive victory in the first game and a hard fought 5-4 loss in the second game.

Game one was against Nobleton who were clearly outmatched by our positional play and passing game. They tried on occasion to stop Minden with a little too much aggression but the referees did their job handing out two interfering calls to Nobleton to settle them down.

The final score was 6-2 in Minden's favour with three goals in the first period, two in the second and one in the third. Goals were scored by Daniel Howell (1), Marty Dettman (2) and a hat trick for Andrew Wilbee.

In game two, Minden met an Aurora team who played aggressively and our boys had to dig in but managed to end the first period with a 1-1 tie. In the second period, Aurora gained the upper hand scoring four goals to our one to put the score at 5-2.

It looked like fatigue had again taken its toll but Minden never gave up and headed into the third period determined and through outstanding effort, scored two goals in this period and spent almost the entire period in Aurora's end. In spite of the extra effort we just ran out of time. The final score was 5-4.

Goals were scored by Tom Bagshaw, Andrew Wilbee (2) and Marty Dettman. Justin Rowden again showed us great goaltending in both games.

Special note: Tom Bagshaw was picked as the second game's most valuable player. Under normal circumstances one would not want to have to make a choice of one player from our team as they all work very hard, however in this case, Tom really deserved the spotlight.

Also special thanks to Bill Redgrave, who, once again, was there when needed.

Husky Bantams down Gravenhurst

The Haliburton Beachli-Walker Husky Bantams eliminated Gravenhurst from further playoff contention last Friday night by defeating them 4-1 on their own pond.

As in game two, the Gravenhurst team attempted to intimidate the Huskies and received 24 minutes in penalties for their efforts. Gavin McKnight allowed only one goal despite being felled three times during the game with high sticks.

Haliburton got off to a quick start as Scott Russell hammered home a low drive at 9:29 of the first period assisted by Brent Flood. Just 40 seconds later at 8:49 Russell broke away again and slid his second goal of the game in on a fine pass from John Vuksic. Gravenhurst scored at 5:21 of the second period to make it 2-1. The third period saw considerable chopping and roughing fouls being committed. Scott Russell scored goal number three unassisted with only 2:01 left on the clock on another breakaway effort. This provided the breathing room - and John Vuksic scored unassisted with 3 seconds showing on the clock to put the icing on the cake.

The Huskies will now advance to the quarter finals against either Elmvale or Smithville. Both these teams were tied at 5 points apiece with the deciding game played Tuesday night in Smithville. Announcements will be made at the High School and next week's paper with the next series scheduled.

Rockbuster draws rinks to Minden bonspiel

by Dwight Thomas

The largest bonspiel ever hosted by the Minden Curling Club has been deemed a "roaring success" by participants and organizers alike. Thirty-two teams of over one hundred and thirty curlers filled the Minden club from Friday afternoon until early Sunday evening.

The many favourable comments heard throughout the weekend was a fitting tribute to the hard work and friendly effort of the "Rockbuster" co-chairman Neil 'Beagle' Burk and Jerry 'Big Jer' McKelvey.

This men's 'spiel was started three years ago and has steadily risen from sixteen entries to twenty-four entries to this year's high of thirty-two teams. Six local teams participated as well as two teams from Haliburton. The remaining teams came from as far away as London, Welland, Elliot Lake and intermediate points.

event and the Frontier Motors Trophy was the Larry Challis rink from Bradford. The quartet included skip Larry Challis, vice, Terry Lapp, second Ron Fennell and lead Joe Lindner.

Taking the 'B' event final and the Prentice-Berry trophy was a combined Oakville-Milton entry skipped by Ken Armstrong. Other members included vice Steve Kindref, second Scott Kindref and lead Mannie DaCosta.

Another combined team won the 'C' event and received the North Shore Lawn and Garden trophy. Skipped by Beaverton's Brian Speedie, the foursome consisted of Paul Terry of Beaverton playing vice, as well as Minden's Chris Coneybeare and Kirk

T.G. Taylor throwing second and lead, respectively. Bob Patton presented the trophy on behalf of his business.

Pete and Dave Dollo were on hand to present the Dollo Brothers trophy to the winners of the 'D' event final. The host club was not shut out as the Minden team skipped by Frank Franzen captured this trophy. Frank was ably assisted by vice Jim Garbutt, second Dave Blakey and lead Peter Franzen.

Special mention goes to the home teams for hosting the apres-curl festivities and to the St. Catharines team for providing the entertainment.

As usual, the food was great, the curling excellent and the camaraderie superb.

Overcoming food frustrations

-by Faith Aggett-

Nourishment is one of our three basic needs. Food attitudes are formed in the early years and pleasant experiences with food will create lasting good food habits. The following article suggests some positive attitudes toward food and eating.

The period just prior to mealtime should be quiet and relaxed. If a child has been playing an exhilarating game before dinner is called, he will understandably have a difficult time settling down. The child should be given warning that the meal will be ready shortly. It is extremely frustrating to have to stop immediately in the middle of something to have to eat.

The mealtime environment is very important. If the mealtime is happy, enjoyable time, the child will look forward to coming to the table. If the family eats together, the child is also more likely to experiment with unfamiliar foods because he sees the others eating them. By eating with the family, he also gains the social skills associated with mealtime through example. Young children love to imitate adults without being taught.

The child and adult are equally capable of using food as a manipulative device - the child when he refuses to eat until his wishes are carried out and the adult when he withholds some food, such as dessert, as a punishment. Nor should dessert or sweets be used as rewards for finishing the main course, because this places an over emphasis on sweet foods.

Be careful not to assume a child will not like a certain food. The child will pick up on your attitude and simply decide they won't like it. At the same time, accept the fact that children do have likes and dislikes. Forcing food does not teach good food habits. The child is more likely to try different foods if presented positively. A variety of colours, textures, shapes and flavours make the meal appealing.

Involving children in the actual preparation of foods will help in developing many skills and concepts. A small garden also helps the child observe food growing. A child may be tempted to eat a vegetable that he has carefully tended during its growing stages.

Dawdlers at the table may be seeking attention or may simply not be hungry. As a general rule, the child should be given less food than he usually eats and told he can ask for more. Rather than being overwhelmed by a plate full, he gains a sense of being in control over the amount of food he eats.

When you feel the child is no longer hungry or is using his meal as an attention-getting device, warn him once that he has a few more minutes to eat. When the time lapses, he should be told calmly and pleasantly that dinner time is over and take the food away.

By helping the child develop good food habits and attitudes the adult is giving him the freedom to develop to the greatest extent. A well nourished body, free from disease is the best tool for growth.

Guild news

by Gwen Hughes

The Guild's programme for the 1987 season is shaping up to be an exciting one. To start with, Joan Hoad, our president is pleased to let us know that the "Search Committee" of the Guild of Fine Arts has successfully completed their task of finding a new Curator for the Rails' End Gallery. There were 20 applicants for the position and nine interviews were conducted.

Elene Freer will commence her new duties in March. She knows the Haliburton Highlands well through many enjoyable summers spent at the family cottage. Among her several interests are native art and textiles. She also has a strong background in folk art.

We hope members will take the opportunity to greet Elene at a reception in her honour at the Rails' End Gallery on Friday, March 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Now, part of the new year's programme, very briefly. Our members, in charge of planning a new programme, have worked hard to involve the whole Highlands community.

The "Whetung Show" in March and the students show in April will be of great interest to our students.

"A Time for All Things" and the Guild Fashion

Show, "Four Seasons in Fashion", are two events where local craft people, be they Guild members or people from the community who can sew and create, are asked to participate. There are some very striking pieces being made for this show.

During the year you will read in detail about the many other exhibitions of weaving, painting, clay, glass etc. that will be presented for your enjoyment.

Guild members are busy improving their skills. The Potter's Group met February 9. Rob Roy, a well known potter, conducted a slide workshop on "Design".

The weaver's group also met on the same day at Sir Sandford Fleming College. They had Veronique Vie from France as a guest speaker. She talked about her work in Ireland and France and showed the members several items of her beautiful weaving.

This type of activity plays a large part in stimulating development among all Guild group members. Indeed, April and May continues a series of lectures, workshops and films planned for this very reason.

One of the most enjoyable happenings is in welcoming new people into our activities. Do take the time to join us. See you, 7:30 p.m., March 6 to greet Elene!!

Voices from HHSS

The Times is pleased to welcome a new column to our pages called 'Voices of HHSS', the column is co-authored by four students from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. The young journalists promise a lively and interesting report on school activities at Hal High and other teen related events in the county. The first column, prepared by Misti Campbell, Dianne Garbutt, Katie Beach and Heather Donaldson, offers a peek at HHSS Spirit Week.

Look no further! Here's what you've been looking for. This new, up-to-date, informative column will present you with the latest Haliburton High School news and social events and will present argumentative comments and perspectives from a teenager's point of view.

For our premier edition, we will look upon Spirit Week at HHSS. This is a week organized purely for fun by the school's student council. On Monday, February 23, Spirit week began with "Caribbean Cruise Day". The majority of the school dressed in a colourful array of summer clothes, adding a break to the monotony of winter. The warm temperatures of the school added to the effect. At noon hour, the gyms were used for a beach-ball volleyball game, featuring the grade 13's against the teachers. We had a good idea who would win, but we cheered the teachers on anyway.

Tuesday was designated as 'Twin Day'. Partners dress up as twins, and could enter a food eating contest which was held at noon. The partners were to sit across from each other at a table. The feeder was blindfolded and the eater had his or her hands tied behind their back. The event was terribly messy last year, as chocolate pudding was served, and with pizza and chocolate ice cream served this year, it was even funnier.

Today, Wednesday, is the climax of the week. The teachers, under organization by Mrs. Varty, are providing a pancake breakfast for the students.

The students choosing not to participate in afternoon winter activities, such as skiing, swimming and curling, will be supervised by Mrs. Cooper, in cleaning up after the pancake meal. Following it, students will

Midgets in 1/4 final

The Haliburton Midget Huskies hockey team defeated Elmvale 6-1 in game 1 of the All-Ontario quarter finals Tuesday night. Scoring for Haliburton were Tom MacLeod with a hat trick, John Wells, Ron Perrin and Alan Rydman.

The next two games will be played in Elmvale on Friday, February 27 at 8:15 p.m. and on Sunday, March 1 at 7:30 p.m.

The fourth game, if necessary, will be held Tuesday, March 3, at 8 p.m. in Haliburton.

travel to Sir Sam's, PineStone Inn, Wig-A-Mog Inn, the Curling Club and some will stay at school for study hall.

This is the second time winter activity day has been scheduled. It was originally set for February 13, but due to lack of support by students, it was put forward until today. Hopefully, it will be a huge success for everyone involved.

On Thursday, students in grades 9-12 will have a chance to 'buy' a grade 13 student being auctioned to become their 'slave' for the day. The lucky younger students will be waited on hand and foot. Money taken in, will, in turn, go back to the students in various forms in certain fundraising areas.

As the slaves toil, the stage band will be participating in a competition in Bracebridge. We wish them luck and will post the results of the contest next week.

Back at the school, during lunch hour, a basketball game will take place with the teachers taking on the students of grade 13.

The incredible week will wind up Friday night at the dance. Admission is $3.00, $1.00 for grade 12 students.

Coming events

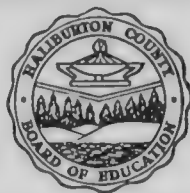

The Junior and Senior girls volleyball teams will participate in Kawartha tournament on February 23 at Norwood.

The Kawartha girls curling will be on the 26th.

Girls Intramural pinball starts on March 2, as well as boys volleyball. Sign up if you'd like to participate.

Also coming up in May: there will be an Elim Hall and Level Heads Christian Rock concert. For more information contact Andrea Burton at 457-2732 or Lora Patton at 489-3603.

If you have any information, questions, or responses, we'd like to hear from you. Write to Voices of HHSS, care of The Times. See you next week.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Hello folks! Real nice sunshine these days. Our week started in a pleasant way with Rev. J. Burgess and Mrs. Burgess taking the Sunday evening service assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. On Tuesday morning Rev. Moll from Minden United Church took charge of the service.

On Monday night the movies were "First Winter", "Germany Faces of Man Series", and "Pioneer Life". They were all interesting and informative.

Tuesday night the Murray Davis's came to entertain us with their lovely music and singing.

On Thursday afternoon the young ladies from Minden United Church came to serve us with tea, cookies, cake, fruits and different kinds of bread. No wonder I have gained 4 pounds.

Winnie Barnum just returned from a four day visit to see her mother in Kingston and her sister in Peterborough. Birthdays at Hyland Crest for February were Mrs. Precoor, Elmer Crawford, Mrs. Gainforth, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Shuyler. We wish them well and many more birthdays.

Amelia Good has another quilt in the frames. We should surely give her three cheers as she is in her 90's. She makes more quilts than all the rest of us together. Hurrah Amelia!

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron from Peterborough called on Winnie Barnum taking her out for dinner on Sunday.

Clayton Brohm from Blackstock came to see his father on Sunday and Donald Brohm and his wife were here Saturday to see him.

Mable Buttery had a visit with her sister Mrs. Kellet.

A little girl's prayer: "God please make the bad people good and the good people nice."

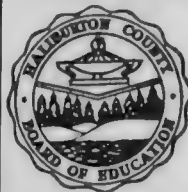

See you next week.

Branch 129 news

by Gerald Irish

Once again Branch 129 has done well at zone and district levels in the Youth Education programmes.

Kim Eade, attending the Haliburton High school submitted an essay on the Remembrance Day theme. Kim's entry won, in her division, at Branch level. Her essay was sent on to zone where it won again. From zone, the next step was on to district level. Again Kim placed first. Her entry is now in the Provincial finals. Congratulations Kim.

Congratulations also to Laura Jackson, a grade eight student at the J.D. Hodgson school in Haliburton. Laura's essay at the Intermediate level placed first at Branch level and second at zone.

Public speaking competitions will be coming up soon and if previous years' performances are any indication, these should be fantastic.

Last Sunday I accompanied the president of Branch 129 to a Zone F4 council meeting. These sessions are always interesting. On Sunday we also said farewell to F4 Zone Commander Mel Robertson and Deputy Zone Commander Stan Moore. Both of these comrades are hoping to attain higher offices. Mel will be running for Deputy District Commander and Stan for Zone Commander.

The reports presented at this council session were most interesting. membership chairman Fred Knight brought us up to date on number of members. Branch 129 membership as of December 31, 1986, stands at 718, a dramatic increase of 54. These membership figures make Branch 129 the second largest Legion in Zone F4.

The Zone F4 convention will be held March 8 in Brechin. At this convention the new zone officers will be elected. Branch 129 can send 12 voting delegates to Brechin.

There will be an executive meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, February 26.

This Saturday, Branch 129 hosts the Johnny Maughan Open Dart Tournament. This tournament is always a lot of fun.

Minden Women's Institute

Twenty-two members of Minden Women's Institute met at the Common Room of the Library Centre at 2 p.m. on Friday February 18 with Mrs. C. Lacey, our president, in charge.

The roll call of "Your hobby" brought response with a variety of crafts or a fine. Mrs. W. Moore's report of 15 cards sent to sick, shut-ins or for birthdays. The collections for Pennies for Friendship and Card Fund were taken.

Thank you notes were read from Archie Stouffer Public School and our municipality. Sheets listing supplies for the District Annual of Victoria East were handed out. Plans were begun for our annual bus trip in early June. Our Home and Country magazines were passed out to all.

Janet Heffer then spoke to us on "Over the counter drugs" and gave us sheets of notes. Mrs. John Hulbig, convener, then thanked Mrs. Heffer and presented her with a gift of appreciation.

"A recipe for growing old" was read by Mrs. A. Coulter and "What is a grandmother" by Mrs. A. Kernohan. The meeting adjourned and all enjoyed a social half hour and a snack. Doris McCall was the winner of the small craft, the ticket for which was drawn by Janet.

The next meeting will be March 18 at 2 p.m. in the Common Room with all ladies welcome. Jeanne Sears, P.R.O.
